AI Adoption Maturity Model

AI maturity framework determines whether AI is just a set of pilots in your organization — or a true driver of transformation.
It's the right balance of strategy, talent, data, and governance that separates experimenters from industry leaders

Only 15% of enterprises are here today

Exploration
(Ad-hoc, Reactive)

- No formal AI strategy.
- Isolated experiments led by enthusiasts.
- Limited budget, Non-existent AI team.
- unclear business case, curiosity-driven pilots.

STAGE 1

~35% of enterprises still stuck here

Experimentation
(PoCs & Pilots)

- AI strategy emerging; first PoCs/MVPs.
- Validating feasibility and quick wins.
- AI team hired, but disconnected from business.

STAGE 2

25% of enterprises at this stage

Expansion
(Scaling Early Wins)

- AI Strategy aligned with business goals.
- Multiple pilots scaled across departments.
- CEO and Board involvement is emerging.

STAGE 3

20% of enterprises aiming to industrialize

Industrialization
(Enterprise AI Adoption)

- AI in Production in core processes.
- Streamlining AI Governance & Compliance.
- CEO, CIO, and Board actively own AI outcomes.

STAGE 4

<5% of enterprises globally here

Transformation
(AI-First Enterprise)

- AI integrated into products, services, decision-making.
- CEO/Board: AI in top-3 strategic priorities.
- Organization-wide AI literacy & cultural-fit.
